

AFROS & AUDIO PODCAST FESTIVAL

See What I'm Sayin

DESCRIPTION:

"See What I'm Sayin" is a facilitated Breakout Session to discuss the importance of having a visual podcast alongside the audio version. Our video presence is what helped us win our first POD EXCELLENCE AWARD in Charlotte last summer and can help YOU expand your audience. We'll cover helpful tools to record and stream your videos, including, Open Broadcast Software (OBS) and Restream (a multi-streaming platform). This session can benefit new and seasoned podcast creatives who want to build a visual presence but haven't taken the leap!

FACILITATOR:

Quincy L. Lewis has been podcasting for nearly ten years. With no technical background in podcasting, no co-host and a cell phone with a horrible connection, he ventured out on his first episode in October of 2010 undeterred. As the years went by, gaining more technical savvy, the quality of his podcasts grew into something respectable. What started out as a suggestion from a friend blossomed into an entire network that includes four podcasts, including the 2019 Pod Excellence Award winning podcast “E-Block Radio.”
